5 -Jupiter with Rahu or Ketu

When Jupiter (a planet linked to wisdom, religion, and spirituality) is combined with the North Node (Rahu) or South Node (Ketu) in a person's birth chart, it can influence how they feel about religion. "makes the native scoff at religion" means that the person might question, criticize, or not take traditional religion seriously.

1. Jupiter with Rahu (North Node):

- Rahu is about worldly desires and breaking rules. When it joins Jupiter, it can make the person doubt or challenge religious traditions.
- They might not believe in rituals or established religions and instead look for new or unusual spiritual ideas.

2. Jupiter with Ketu (South Node):

- Ketu is about detachment and spirituality but can also create confusion. When it joins Jupiter, the person might lose interest in religion or see it as unnecessary.
- They may prefer their own personal spiritual path, like meditation or deeper thinking, rather than following religious rules.

What Kind of People Are They?

- They often question blind faith or outdated beliefs.
- They may be curious about philosophy or spirituality in a way that feels personal to them.
- If they see religion as fake or corrupt, they might make fun of it or reject it.
- Even if they don't like organized religion, they can still have strong spiritual beliefs.

This depends on other parts of their birth chart, but generally, it shows someone who thinks differently about religion.

21-Retrogression deprives jupiter of its kendrapati dasa .

22- Retrogression deprives jupiter of its kendrapati dasha

Kendrapati Dasha:

- Planets ruling Kendra houses (1st, 4th, 7th, and 10th) are often considered auspicious due to their ability to confer stability, strength, and material success.
- Jupiter, being a benefic, gains special importance when it rules or occupies Kendra houses. However, this influence can be diminished under certain conditions, such as retrogression.

Retrogression:

- A planet is said to be retrograde when it appears to move backward in the sky due to the relative motion of Earth. Retrograde planets often behave differently:
 - Their energy becomes more introspective and internalized.
 - They can amplify certain traits or cause delays and disruptions in their natural significations.

Deprivation of Kendrapati Dasha:

- This phrase implies that a retrograde Jupiter, despite being a Kendra lord, may not deliver the expected auspicious results during its planetary period (Dasha).
- The planet's ability to give material success, stability, or other Kendra-related benefits will be weakened.

Why Retrogression May Diminish Kendrapati Dasha:

1. Loss of Directional Strength:

- Retrograde planets often function with a confused or reversed energy. For Jupiter, this can lead to a loss of its expansive and benefic qualities, especially in delivering Kendra-related outcomes.

2. Internalized Energy:

- Retrograde Jupiter focuses more on internal growth, spirituality, or introspection, rather than material achievements. This can reduce its effectiveness in fulfilling Kendra roles, which are often tied to external success and stability.

3. Potential for Delays or Mixed Results:

- The outcomes associated with Jupiter's Dasha might be delayed or altered. While spiritual or philosophical growth might occur, material gains or stability might not meet expectations.

4. Affliction by Other Factors:

- If a retrograde Jupiter is also afflicted (e.g., by malefics like Saturn, Rahu, or Ketu), its ability to provide Kendra-related benefits is further compromised.

For example

Jupiter in a Kendra (Pisces Ascendant)

- Jupiter's Role: Rules the 1st (Pisces) and 10th house (Sagittarius). Its placement in the 4th house (Gemini) makes it a strong Kendra lord.
- Retrograde Impact:
 - Jupiter's Dasha might bring challenges related to property (4th house), emotional stability, or education, despite its role as a Kendra lord.
 - However, the retrogression could enhance introspective and spiritual growth.
